ITALIANS INFLECT BIG LOSS ON HUNS; AMERICAN SOLDIERS FALL IN BATTLE

STAR HINDU WITNESS IS SILENCED BY PRAYER

Jobd Singh, Whose Testimony Has Enabled U. S. to Find Many Convictions, Changes REFUSES TO TALK BEFORE COUNTRYMEN

Prayers and Chanting Throw Court Into Hubbub; Singh Is Listed Among Conspirators

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—The occult potency of a Brahmin chant upset the calculations of Uncle Sam this morning when Jobd Singh, star witness for the government in the Hindu conspiracy trial, suddenly refused to testify when the prayer of his people reached his ears from fellow countrymen. As a result the man whose testimony has already cost the lives of six of his brothers and eight of his countrymen, has become as silent as a tomb and the government is revamping its case.

Singh quit the stellar role of federal witness in the case involving 34 men alleged to have conspired to foment a conspiracy and a revolution against British authority in India at an unexpected interval.

DID NOT TAKE OATH ON STAND

He had been placed on the stand and excused from taking an oath because of religious beliefs. Following an announcement by District Attorney John W. Preston that the witness would show the connection between German consular attaches in South America, the United States and Germany and the method by which the conspiracy would be financed, "I have a few notes here; if they are answered satisfactorily I will testify," suddenly announced Singh. Questioned as to what he wanted to know by Federal Judge Van Fleet, he asked if America was a "free country"; if he could remain here after he had testified, and if his countrymen would be permitted to hear his testimony. Upon being informed that he would have to tell his story in front of his countrymen, Singh jumped to his feet.

"I will not testify," he shouted. "I would rather be a defendant." In an instant the courtroom was in a hubbub. The witness rose and began to chant a weird, occult Brahmin air in the words of their own tongue. Finally Judge Van Fleet's gavel restored order, but it was too late.

"What is all this about?" he demanded. Ram Chandrar, former editor of the Hindustan Gadar, one of the defendants, rose and announced: SAY PRAYERS OF DEFENDANTS ANSWERED

"We are chanting because he is now our brother. Before we were praying that he would join us. Our prayer has been answered." And so it was that the government lost its star witness and Jobd Singh, who had been placed in the marshal's strong room pending removal to the county jail, McGowan, after a consultation with him, asked that his client be permitted to withdraw his plea. This was overruled by Judge Van Fleet upon a statement by Preston that Jobd was well educated and a linguist, speaking five languages.

In the custody of department of justice operatives the government's mysterious witness, who arrived on the Princess Juliana Friday, K. Nath Meeker, a Brahmin attorney from Bangkok, Siam, was placed on the stand. Meeker's testimony primarily on the movements of the steamer Mavrick and his acceptance of $75 to carry a message from the German consul at Bangkok to Calcutta, where he was to advise the revolutionists, headed by P. Dyal Kaur of the arrival of the Mavrick at Calcutta and what disposition to make of her cargo of arms and ammunition.

Wounded:

BRITISH ARMY HEAD-QUARTERS IN FRANCE, Nov. 27.—The British have made another advance in Cambrai area according to the latest reports, have worked their way forward through the northwest part of Fontaine Notre Dame, which they captured at the beginning of the attack last week, but subsequently lost. They are now said to have advanced almost to the main street, which runs east and west through the center of the village.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Nov. 27.—An hour before sunrise today General Byng hit Crown Prince Rupprecht a stinging little rap at Fontaine Notre Dame. Rupprecht had to give ground.

Again, later in the day, between Bourlon and Cambrai, British troops hammered their way into the northern part of the village from Bourlon wood.

They drove the Prussians with their bayonets and hand grenades into the southern half of the town below the Bapaume-Cambrai road. The fighting was sharp and bitter.

BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Repulse of a violent enemy counter-attack in the northeast corner of Bourlon Wood was reported by Field Marshal Haig today.

The assault came late last night. It was the first counter-thrust of a major force which the enemy had directed against the new British advanced positions in the wood for nearly twenty-four hours. Nearly, however, at the Bourlon village the fighting has been almost continuous, the position being half British and half German, with both sides striving violently to increase their holdings.

Bourlon wood, which was the scene of violent fighting on Sunday, lies about three miles west of Cambrai and just north of the ruins of what was once the village of Fontaine Notre Dame. It rests upon high ground which dominates the German stronghold of Cambrai, and so long as they retain it the British can make no advance.

The British lines have been advanced in the enclosing movement against Cambrai and the Germans are struggling furiously but fruitlessly to dislodge them. The wood is slightly less than 100 acres, from the village to the east, and when this highway is cut Field Marshal Haig's army will have opened the way for a drive behind the defenses of Cambrai.

IN 23 MURDERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—That he has been implicated in no less than twenty-three murders in this city and adjoining towns was the startling confession made here today by Ralph Danielle, alias "Ralph the Barber," to Assistant District Attorney Raymond according to the police. Danielle was brought here from Reno, Nev., by Brooklyn police authorities on an indictment in connection with the death of a man in that borough.

EMBARGO IS TAKEN UNKINDLY BY DUTCH

Premier Outlines Position of Country in Matter of Food Exports Into Central Nations

BUTTER AND FATS EXCHANGED FOR COAL

Maintains Holland Only Nation to Adhere Strictly to Wilson's Latest Neutral Propaganda

By John H. Bruna

(Copyright, 1917, by United Press.) THE HAGUE, Nov. 27.—A serious strain in the traditionally friendly relations between Holland and America looms large today.

Strict enforcement of American export restrictions has affected not only the stomachs and minds of the Hollanders, but has tempered their high regard for democratic America. Diplomatic negotiations are now in progress. Meanwhile public sentiment in Holland is daily becoming more bitter against America for what is regarded here as an incomprehensibly heartless attitude. Realizing the situation presented to Holland by the American embargo restrictions, a matter of actual life and death here, is little understood in the United States, the correspondent of the United States today sought the Dutch point of view from the man best situated to outline it, Dr. Cort van der Linden, premier of the Netherlands.

URGES TREATMENT ADVOCATED BY U. S.

In a phrase, as he expressed it, Holland desires only that America shall apply to her President Wilson's own announced principle of fair treatment to small nations and respect of their rights.

"Holland's grand old man" has heretofore refused all interviews since the start of the war. But he was eager to give Holland a version of her difficulties with the United States, seizing the opportunity to appeal to the American people. He said Holland's feeling of resentment against America was "easy to explain."

Premier van der Linden, he continued, "unreservedly believe President Wilson's idealistic messages. They found a warm response in our country. Therefore, we do not understand America's attitude toward a nation striving for perfect neutrality and trying to save the nucleus of international law by reminding belligerents violating their rights or interests of the rules which the best of us would like to see enforced in the world codified."

"America—the America which took a leading part in this work of civilization—now detains the ships of small neutrals. She withholds foodstuffs and raw materials. After a time there will be no bread left in Holland and unemployment will reach a proportion dangerous to the public order."

"You wonder, then, that this nation resents America's policy? Represents America's policy of guarantees that imported cereals shall not be re-exported when they are, in fact, consigned to the Dutch government through the Netherlands overseas trust? We resent this policy because the best guarantee of our good faith is the fact that we, ourselves, need the supplies so badly."

Premier van der Linden is the only prime minister in Europe who has held his position as a governmental leader uninterrupted through the whole war.

ADULTS EXPORTING FOOD TO GERMANY

"Of course," the premier continued, "we export our dairy and agricultural products as compensation for coal, iron, potash and other chemical products which Germany exports to us. But do not forget that these exports are offered to both belligerent parties as an equal proposition."

"This is the only possible policy of neutral countries who want friendly relations with their neighbors, needing them on account of geographical position or economic structure."

REDS JOIN SEARCH

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 27.—Five hundred Indians from the Sacton reservation joined today in a search for Kenneth G. Falston, a well-to-do farmer of The Dalles, Ore., who disappeared a week ago. "The Indians, who are familiar with every part of this section, will make a thorough search of the desert."

Benjamin Falston, a brother of the missing man, believes he was murdered for $300 and jewelry he is known to have had on his person.

Weinberg in Jury's Hands by Nightfall

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—That the Israel Weinberg case will be in the hands of the jury by 3 o'clock this afternoon was the announcement made by Assistant District Attorney Louis Ferrari at noon. He informed Judge Emmet Seawell he would require but a half hour this afternoon to complete his argument.

Ferrari today placed especial emphasis upon the testimony of Mrs. Mellie Edeau and her daughter Sadie, whom counsel for the defense have attempted to impeach with John McDonald, another prominent witness for the State.

All the bomb defendants but Weinberg, Thomas Moore, Mrs. Rena Moore, Warren K. Billings and Edward K. Nolan, had other indictments against them called for trial today in the court of George C. Canine. As they were reached on the calendar, Assistant District Attorney William McWood said the State was ready. Absence of the jury caused the court to continue the Nelson case for thirty days and to set the case of the case down for next Monday, at which time Attorneys Maxwell McNab and N. Coghlan have indicated they will ask for a dismissal on the ground of a violation of the sixty-day rule, three cases having not been called within the sixty days stipulated since their first arraignment.

The State waived its rights to submit to the court instructions desired, read to the jury which will cut down the reading of Nelson's indictment to a matter of about an hour, and it is possible that Israel Weinberg will know his fate before tonight.

RELEASE PICKETS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Twenty-two suffrage picketers won their freedom today when Police Judge Mulholland ordered their immediate release from the district jail here. Miss Alice Paul, Mrs. Lucy Burns, Mrs. Dora Lewis and other leaders of the Woman's Party were among those given their liberty. Eight picketers still remain in jail.

Will Not Ask Congress to Declare War

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—President Wilson will not ask for a declaration of war against Austria or Germany's other allies at the outset of Congress, it was authoritatively learned by the United Press today. Developments in the sinking of the American ship Lusitania may change the outlook, however.

"Watchful waiting" of the situation will be the President's attitude, despite wishes of many Congressional leaders for immediate action. Until an actual clash of Austrian and American forces is inevitable the administration prefers to let the diplomatic situation rest as it is.

A deadlock on the Italian plans or decisive Teuton defeats on other fronts may cause Austria to seek an advantageous peace. The United States has remained at peace with Germany's most powerful ally for the express purpose of being free to aid such a move if considered best for the allied cause.

Debate on the policy is likely to start shortly after Congress convenes, December 3. Republicans may find it an issue to diminish their war program from the administration's without any renunciation of disloyalty. Congress is empowered to declare war without the President's consent.

One factor working against an immediate declaration of war is that Congress expects to be almost constantly in session for ten months. Thus, if further war declarations become inevitable, action could be taken without delay.

Congressional leaders have no definite legislative program in mind. Aside from keeping down expenditures to absolute necessity, their present plans are to follow the President's lead. With one week until he reads his message to Congress, leaders are still without a final opinion on what he will say.

But individual members are indicated that besides war resolutions against Germany's allies, they will bring the following subjects before Congress: Criticism of the Lansing-Ishli agreement; "alien sealer" amendments to selective service law, and inclusion of all men between 19 and 45, universal military training bills on Herbert Hoover as well as amendments to the food control bill, broadening his powers, and a retroactive bill permitting soldiers and sailors to accept foreign honors for bravery.

Friede Made Her Simulate Contentment, Accused Says

BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

MINEOLA, L. I., Nov. 27.—"I can dance with a broken heart and I can smile with a broken heart," was the answer Mrs. Bianca De Saulles returned to District Attorney Weeks here today when the prosecutor, demanding her life, sought to picture her as a frivolous Chilean beauty who spent her husband's money freely and then killed him after a quarrel.

At times Mrs. De Saulles spoke barely above a whisper. Fashionably-dressed women wept at her recital under a cross-examination or gasped at a quick retort by the beautiful defendant.

Weeks had demanded to know why Mrs. De Saulles maintained a gay and care-free attitude during the time she said her husband's neglect and mistreatment was crushing her.

Weeks questioned her as to a letter telling of a party of which she had written De Saulles, stating that she "had all of the men at her feet and danced until there was none left."

"You danced and yet your heart was broken?" asked Weeks. The reply came in a whisper. "Yes, I danced with a broken heart."

She asked her husband not to be jealous, as she had "a good head on her shoulders," and always picked her men companions carefully. "Yes," said the letter, "you mean to be a friend someone will run away with me," and mentioned racing, gambling and dancing at the Ostend Casino but she said she was "gambled." The letter described gay parties, dancing and "men who lost their heads."

"You were having a pretty good time, weren't you?" Weeks demanded. She said she couldn't remember, but when pressed for an answer, replied suddenly:

"I never wrote complaining letters. I wanted everyone to think I was happy."

Other letters flattering De Saulles and telling of her love for him were read. Weeks demanded whether she loved De Saulles at that time.

"I thought he was wonderful. I tried to hold him by flattery," she responded, smiling.

Mrs. De Saulles' replies were barely audible, growing fainter and fainter. An audience of only 250 was permitted to enter court.

As she took her seat on the witness stand today, Mrs. De Saulles looked pale and even in a white crepe de chine blouse. She wore a blue satin skirt.

District Attorney Weeks lost no time in attacking the defense plea—

T. R. FOR FICKERT

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Colonel Roosevelt reiterated his support of District Attorney Fickert of San Francisco in the recall election soon to be held, in a letter to Thomas W. Nowlin, U. S. Postmaster, San Francisco, made public here today.

Roosevelt declared that information he has received is that the issue is between section and patriotism.

"There is, in my judgment, no question that all the opponents of law and order, all the men who are against straight United States sentiment, will be evicted if Fickert is recalled," Roosevelt wrote.

BLIZZARDS AID LATINS IN HOLDING BACK FOES

Italians Attack With All Fury of Storm Raging Over Lines, Badly Harrassing Teutons

SEASONED ALLIES JOIN IN DEFENSE OF VENICE

British and French Veterans Now Aid in Standing Off Onslaught of Austro-Germans

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Heavily reinforced masses of Austro-Germans, estimated at twenty divisions, vainly trying to break the Italian defensive line, have suffered great losses, according to official despatches today from Rome, and between the Piave and Brenta rivers alone have won out six divisions.

ROME, Nov. 27.—An entire division of the enemy made an attack yesterday in the Brenta valley in an effort to break through the Italian northern front. Today's official statement says these troops which attacked in massed formation were driven back.

WITH THE ITALIAN ARMIES, Nov. 27.—Terrible blizzards sweeping over the mountains in the north today came to the aid of the Italians in holding back the invading Austro-Germans. A heavy fall of snow forced the enemy to delay making up heavy artillery and made moving of his reinforcements practically impossible. The Italians, accustomed to mountain fighting, repeatedly attacked with all the fury of the storm which was raging across their lines. They harassed the Austrians day and night.

FRENCH TROOPS POUR THROUGH ALPINE PASSES

By Henry Wood.

United Press Staff Correspondent. WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN ITALY, Nov. 27.—French troops are pouring through the Alpine passes today. Relief is in sight for Italy. Men and guns to roll back to would-be despoilers of Venice are passing in seemingly never-ending streams through the century-channeled valleys and ravines. They came through the same gaps in the Alps where every great army has entered Italy from Hannibal's legions to Napoleon's invincibles. This time they came as vanguards of Italy armed with modern war equipment to help Italy throw back the legions of the modern Hun.

Endless columns of the French troops today are wending down the heights into the plains. Many are following the very roads which their great Napoleon himself ordered constructed.

At one point I watched French light artillery densely packed in creeping trains come in snaky lines, while not far away another monstrous line of horse-drawn army wagons, automobiles, motor lorries and the vast impedimenta of an army, came along the road. They skirted precipitous mountain sides or dipped deep into dark ravines.

REINFORCEMENTS AID GALLANT ITALIANS

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

ROME, Nov. 27.—Seasoned French and British veterans, who have faced German drums, poison gas and food fire on the western front, are now joining the Italians in counter-attacks against the Austro-German invaders on the Asiago plateau. Advances from the front today told of the arrival of "French reinforcements."

The formidable Austro-German attacks between the Piave and Brenta valleys have continued with the Teutons manœuvring to deliver a crowning blow, but so far the gallant resistance of the Italians has frustrated the German drive.

General Diaz's troops are striking back all along the line and are defeating the Teutons just as violent as those of the Austro-Germans. There is heavy fighting around Monte Tonba, which is regarded as a critical point. The Germans, early in their drive, made a slight gain, but since then they have been held on the slopes by the Italians.

It is the Germans and Austro-Hungarians can break through at Monte Tonba and overrun the plain it would seriously threaten the Italian line on the Piave by cutting the Italian lines of communication. Bulgarian troops are reported to have reinforced the Austro-German lines on the Upper Piave and in the Monte Pertica sector.

ACCUSED GIRL IS CALM UNDER FIRE

lapse of memory and temporary irresponsibility.

"You stated yesterday you recalled nothing from the time your husband said you could not see your boy until you regained consciousness at the jail. Is that right?" the attorney asked.

"It is," the witness replied in perfectly even tones, suggesting she was mistress of the situation.

"Have you suffered any lapse of memory since that time?"

"I have not."

"Then you remember all you testified to yesterday?"

"Yes, I think I do."

"Now, may I ask, when did you first find out your husband did not care for you?"

"When we went to Europe before the war."

"Were you happy at South Bethlehem while with the De Saulles family?"

The witness was not clear on the question and did not reply.

Weeks took a sudden turn in his attack and produced a letter written by the defendant immediately after the birth of the boy. The letter was to De Saulles and said in part:

"You have been such a precious ideal husband and now you are also an ideal father."

APPRECIATED CARE AT BIRTH OF BABY

"I said that because he had stayed with me during the birth of our baby," Mrs. de Saulles said after the letter had been read.

In one letter to her husband Mrs. de Saulles said: "If you don't trust me, at least give me credit for having a good head. I am very careful with the invitations I accept and know when I can go out with a man."

"Have you found anyone prettier than your baby girl?" Mrs. de Saulles asked her husband in another letter. It continued:

"I have not found anyone I could place in the same sphere with you, darling boy—I have seen no one as handsome, as sweet and as manly as you."

In response to questioning by the attorney and judge as to whether she was sincere in these statements, the witness said:

"I flattered him in an effort to hold him."

Another letter was read in which Mrs. de Saulles begged her husband's forgiveness for "spending so absurdly on clothes."

"I'll not do it again," she wrote.

"You have worked so hard and deserve success," another part of the letter said.

"Did you mean that?"

"I thought then that he was working hard," was the answer.

Mrs. de Saulles testified that she was "very unhappy" and "very hurt" over an incident in London, when De Saulles would not permit her to stay at the same hotel where he was.

"But you said nothing of that in this letter, did you?" asked Weeks.

He had just read another letter written to her husband in which words of affection were repeated.

WOULDN'T ADMIT IT.

"My heart was broken when I wrote that letter, but I would not tell him so," replied the witness.

A portion of this letter told of a dance Mrs. de Saulles had attended. She said she had danced until she "had no feet left to stand on."

"You had a good time at that dance?" asked Weeks.

"You can dance with your feet even though your heart is broken?" answered Mrs. de Saulles.

In another part of the letter the defendant wrote that at the dancing party "some of those funny cocktails that taste like dirty water and look like diluted milk" had been ordered for her.

While en route to Chile for a visit with relatives Mrs. de Saulles testified that she believed her married life "was at an end—morally."

"You will pardon me for putting the question directly, but do you mean that you intended you would never again live together as man and wife?"

"I thought that if I was leaving him I would not," was the reply. Attorney Weeks then read a letter written by Mrs. de Saulles to her husband while on board ship en route to South America.

In this she wrote she knew she had not been a "good wife" to him, but she hoped he would have the success which he deserved.

"Did you mean that?" asked Weeks. "He had always made me believe I was to blame for everything," was the reply.

"My duty demands that I ask this question said the attorney. "Is it not a fact that after the birth of your son that you did not live with John de Saulles as man and wife?"

"No," answered Mrs. de Saulles.

"Did you not tell a woman friend that you did not care who Jack went around with as long as he stayed away from you?" was the question.

"That is a lie," answered the defendant, briskly.

Weeks exhibited a copy of another letter written by De Saulles to his wife, in which he said: "Not only have you refused to live with me for the last four years, but you seem to glory in the fact."

He continued: "You have about reached the end of your tether with my patience." He admonished her to turn over a new leaf."

At this point a juror yawned so loudly that Weeks turned to the justice and said:

"The jury seems to be tired."

"You can't blame the jury—anyone would be tired," interjected Mrs. de Saulles in a tone scarcely audible to Attorney Weeks and Justice Manning.

"You mean that I am tiresome?" asked Weeks.

"Yes," answered the witness.

"To you?"

"Yes."

The attorney then assured the defendant he was asking her questions because it was his duty to do so, whereupon Mrs. de Saulles said she meant "no disrespect."

RELENTLESS WAR OBJECT, SAYS BAKER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The allies hope to break the western line by "slow," relentless sapping of Germany's man power. Reviewing the past weeks war effort, Secretary Baker today pointed this out as the object behind the several offensives, and held it to be more important even than the gain in territory.

"The slow, yet relentless sapping of his manpower by continued and sudden offensive thrusts which must eventually result in the softening of his line in the west. This is the ultimate objective of the series of intense offensives so successfully pursued by the allies during the past six months and is even more important than the gain of terrain."

Baker held that the Teuton made his Italian offensive "to extricate himself from the increasingly difficult position in which his forces find themselves in the west."

"The German high command was apparently convinced that in order to save Italy from invasion," Baker continued, "such important contingents of French and British troops would be detached from the western front as to render any further allied offensives in this theater impossible."

While such aid has been given, Baker held it had not impaired the west front offensive. The Cambria victory, he held, had dominated the past week's military situation, though Italy's steady resistance had been a part of "one and the same movement."

The allied use of keeping up its

DANIELS OPPOSES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Decorations of any officers or men of the American navy by foreign governments for war services will be opposed by Secretary Daniels. He declared today that if asked for an opinion he would advise a strict adherence to the provisions which prohibits it.

Flanders' bombardment to shield the Cambrai movement, and the use of tanks instead of artillery to clear the path to Cambrai, were praised by Baker as a "strategy daringly conceived and brilliantly executed." He said the British took over ten thousand prisoners, which was more than their total casualties.

"Increased artillery activity" was noted in the sector where American troops are training, indicating that the Teuton is preparing for new raids. "Small detachments of American troops" while on patrol duty have gained some useful experience," Baker wrote.

"As for Italy," the secretary continued, "the morale of the Italian forces is improving daily, and while the situation is not wholly free from critical aspects, the defensive measures appear adequate to meet the situation."

DREDGER REPAIRS COMPLETED SOON

That the municipal dredger will be in operation again by the middle of December was the opinion expressed by Commissioner F. F. Morse today following a close inspection of the trouble that has surrounded its operation during the last six months. When the big pumps again start work the dredger will be located in the channel near the Alameda lease at the foot of Seventh street.

Whether Captain George Mahan will remain in charge of the dredger remains to be seen when the final report of Commissioner Morse is made to the city council. No further matters pertaining to the present controversy will be taken up by the commissioner with the city service board which recently charged that there had been "gross mismanagement" in handling the expensive piece of municipal machinery.

"As far as I have gone into the matter I have not found that Captain Mahan has been particularly to blame for the conditions on the dredger," said Commissioner Morse. "I desire to be entirely fair in the matter."

"It developed during the investigation that while the dredger was first shut down last July owing to the inefficiency of the pump, the captain reported a year before that time that a new pump would be necessary."

Frank Barber Jr., 15 years of age, drew his pay for work at the Sunset Lumber Company plant on November 20 and since that time he has not been heard from by his parents, who today asked the police to assist in searching for him.

STUDENTS HOSTS

Today is exhibition day at University high school. The school invited the high eighth grades of the Claremont, Piedmont and Emerson schools to some exercises that showed what its students do. The month history class put on a short play descriptive of Greek life, some girls of the physical education class illustrated classic dancing, dainty little Kathleen Morehouse did an exquisite little dance of spring.

put his boys through a series of competitive drills. Harold Martin and his sailor boys did some interesting evolutions. The school band played and the visiting schools enjoyed the hospitality of university high at a simple lunch. In the afternoon three sketches were given by different English classes under the direction of Miss Burg and Mrs. Robertson. They comprised a score from "The Merchant of Venice," one from Stephen Phillips' "Ulysses" and one from Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities." They were thoroughly enjoyed, judging from the applause of the students.

In the science department things were going on all the afternoon. Ballopticon talks were given by Jack Black, George Denley, Russell Simi, Gladys Bonnet and Jna MacKinnon. Experiments were illustrated and demonstrations given in the three laboratories that showed some of the applications of electricity within the grasp of high school boys and girls. Harvey Craig worked specially hard preparing the apparatus used. Charles showing sanitary surveys made by the students were also on display.

How Women are Restored to Health

Spartanburg, S.C.—"For nine years I suffered from backache, weakness, and irregularities so I could hardly do my work. I tried many remedies but found no permanent relief. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt a great change for the better and am now well and strong so I have no trouble in doing my work. I hope every user of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will get as great relief as I did from its use."—Mrs. S. D. McLean, 122 Dewey Ave., Spartanburg, S.C.

Chicago, Ill.—"For about two years I suffered from a female trouble so I was unable to walk or do any of my own work. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and determined to try it. It brought almost immediate relief. My weakness has entirely disappeared and I never had better health. I weigh 155 pounds and am as strong as a man. I think money is well spent which purchases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Jos. O'Brien, 1755 Newport Ave., Chicago, Ill.

BATHE INTERNALLY AND KEEP WELL!

Nature has mightily equipped us all, old and young, to resist disease—but she requires that we give her a chance. We give her no chance if we permit the low, insidious, more or less chronic, accumulated waste, yet that is a universal condition today, as is proven by the number of laxative drugs that are consumed.

You can help Nature in Nature's most effective way by Internal Bathing and in an easy, non-habit-forming way keep the intestine as sweet and clean as Nature demands it to be for perfect health and sure defense against contagion. Over half a million keen, bright, healthy people testify to the results.

Mrs. I. B. Logan of St. Joe, Idaho, writes:

"Dear Sir: While you have never solicited my testimonial, I feel it a duty that I owe to you to acknowledge what your treatment has done for me."

I have suffered from a severe form of biliousness from the most severe form of biliousness during all that time that I did not have a severe attack. The only way I could get relief was to get some purgative to act on the bowels. I could keep on my feet and attend to my daily vocation only by taking an agent, a laxative or a purgative every day.

"Since coming in touch with your J. B. L. Cascade, I have not had an attack of biliousness, have not had an attack of bilious headache and have never enjoyed such perfect health in my life as I have for the past three months."

Just call at The Owl Drug Co. and request free booklet, "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent Efficient." The most efficient device for Internal Bathing, the "J. B. L. Cascade," will also be shown and explained to you if you so desire.—Advertisement.

Kidney Trouble Not Easily Recognized

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

We find that Swamp-Root is strictly an herbal compound and we would advise our readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure to mention the name of this advertisement.

How Fat Folks May Become Slim

Fat persons will be interested to learn that they may easily reduce their weight without starvation diet or tiresome exercise. Eat all you need, but chew your food thoroughly, so that you will not overtax your assimilative organs, get fresh air and take a few drops of oil of korein four times a day.

Oil of korein (five drops to the capsule) may be obtained from the druggist. This preparation is absolutely harmless, pleasant to take and is purposed in connection with the other simple directions to reduce fatty accumulations in the system.

If you would like to obtain a test of oil of korein, free by mail, with an interesting booklet, write to Korein Company, "SAC, Arcadia," East 25th Street, New York, N. Y. The free booklet is entitled, "Reduce Weight Happily," and will delight you. How to reduce purely abdominal, double chin, large limbs, obese hips and other overburden parts of the body.

Even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight. Footsteps become lighter, the skin more firm and smoother in appearance, work seems easier, and a more buoyant feeling takes possession of the whole being as superfluous and unhealthy fat disappears.

If you are ten to sixty pounds over normal weight, you should give treatment a trial. You will probably find that it's just what you need. A steady and very satisfactory reduction may be expected.—Advertisement.

I knew I had obtained what I had been looking for and I took the full course of treatment. It is going on 4 years now and I have never had any pains or bloating since. CONTRACT LET BY W. P. FOR ITS SAN JOSE LINK

SAN JOSE, Nov. 27.—Twenty-three and a half miles of new railroad, costing $800,000, and connecting San Jose with the main line at Niles, will be built by the Utah Construction Company under the terms of a contract entered into yesterday.

The Western Pacific recently acquired the right of way for an entrance into San Jose, the line passing through one of the most valuable orchard property in California.

WAR LITERATURE NEEDS OUTLINED

"A mental dredge is needed to handle the literature of the war," said President Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, speaking this morning to the students at Mills College on "The Literature of the War."

"One must first study the background," said she. "One must have foundation in history of thought and idea, and in history itself, before presenting day literature on the war is read."

War literature was divided into three divisions by the speaker: Military; political and legal; and history, philosophy and religion, novels, essays, poems, dramas. The first division deals with methods of warfare under the sea, in the air and on the earth, all of which have been altered; the second with international law, characters, etc.; the third reflects human life.

MANY BOOKS ON WAR.

"Last January there had been published 25,000 volumes concerning the causes, action and probable results of the war. Although the embargo is so strict it was not possible to follow the German publications, nevertheless American and British war publications in France was second and England third. America was not mentioned on the list at that time."

Among the books suggested by President Reinhardt were Seymour's "Diplomatic Background of the War," Schmidt's "England and Germany," Dawson's "Evolution of Modern Germany." For an understanding of the basis of government, Burgess' "Reconciliation of Government and Liberty," Perry's "Reconciliation of Liberty and Discipline," Christensen's "Politics and Crowd Morality," Haecckels "World War Thoughts," Beck's "Evidence in the Case," Headland's "Twelve Days," and Denis' "Laguerré" were cited among war books.

VIEW POINTS GIVEN.

American writers from abroad present only an approximate point of view, said the speaker. To secure a true reflection one must read the writers of the different countries in their own language. In the French books there is an admirable spirit which it is well for America to recognize, said President Reinhardt, quoting from a group of French writers and among them a poem "To America" by a very young poet, Mireille.

"America, let our generation be the pillars of a bridge. "Strutting itself between the various nations. "Let our hands grasp each other. "Let us stand firm. "And be worthy of this earth, which men, until now, "Did but divide between themselves in a bloody fashion."

DON'T LET SANTA MISS THESE TOTS

When you dig down in that old worn-out pocket on the right side of your trousers, and count over the dimes, quarters and dollars you are going to spend this year to keep some foolish-headed kiddy's illusions about Christmas and Santa Claus fresh and true; and when you get out of bed before dawn on Christmas morning with the frost crackling under your bare toes, and sneak out into the dining room, just to be there and get a look at the kiddy's face when he sees what is piled up there on the hearth; and when you light up that Christmas tree, with its lights and glittering tinsel and little funny shaped socks full of candy and nuts, and jumping jacks and paper caps, and Maw and Paw and the rest get choky in the throat and tell "do you remember" stories, and you feel like you just naturally liked the whole blooming world—

DON'T FORGET. Don't forget—there are 10,000 little tots, just like your own kiddy, who won't have one smell of Christmas over in Europe unless you and the next man and woman, dig into your pockets and dig out the money to send them. They will press their little, cold noses against the window pane and listen for reindeer steps that never come, for the stocking that hangs empty on Christmas morning, for the platter that is without food on the table for the "daddy" who will not be there on Christmas because he is lying somewhere out in No Man's Land with a mauling hand clamped in his dead hands where he lost his life fighting for his home.

In two seasons there has been collected $48,000 in money and $40,000 in clothing, food and toys for these children of Europe. This year they need $25,000. They are the children of the allies—America's brother's children, and they are in pitiful need. Committees, private philanthropies and others are doing their best but they cannot meet the demand. They need aid—aid from the men and women who are trying to make children happy this year.

SEND A DOLLAR. Send a dollar, by check or otherwise—and that is a small sum to make a child happy—send a dollar to the War Children's Relief headquarters at the Hotel McAlister, Seventy-second street and Central Park West, New York. It will go for food, for clothes, for a rag doll or a jumping-jack, for something to fill a stocking and take away a little of the sorrow and unhappiness that is coming into this country this year with the increasing death lists from the war zone. Don't wait! Do it now!

ELECT OFFICERS

The Illinois Society of California, Inc., held its regular annual election of officers last evening in Starr King hall. The officers elected are as follows: President, R. W. Sweet; vice-president, Mrs. J. Franklin Moore; treasurer, Mrs. A. A. Cannon; secretary, L. L. Steele; sergeant-at-arms, F. B. Bled; pianist, Mrs. Emma H. Brooks; register clerk, Miss Frances Gayett; directors, L. M. McKenney, Daniel Rygel and Mr. Johnson.

MAY OUST MAYOR

SEATTLE, Nov. 27.—Mayor Hiram C. Gill must go. This is the edict of the Joint committee of civic organizations, appointed to act on the ban of Camp Lewis soldiers in the adoption of a report today. The committee is proceeding today to effect such action and will make reports to its various organizations.

OAKLAND DOCKS TO BE GUARDED

Portions of the waterfront capable of docking ships of 500 tons will shortly be put under martial law, according to action at Washington today. Similar action is to be taken at all other coast cities.

The Department of Justice is gathering information regarding docks and piers, location and class of shipments. Patrol plans will then be formulated and regular troops detailed to protect shipping. With the placing of sentries along the waterfront the docks and wharves will be under Federal control and all persons will be challenged.

TODAY IS PAYDAY

Through action of the city council the "ghost" walked for the city employees who were paid today in order that if they desire turkey for Thanksgiving a shortage in the family purse will not prevent the indulgence. The council will also make arrangements whereby the city payroll will be available before Christmas. This scheme was adopted last year with success.

MAY SHIFT FUND

The Melrose Business Men's and Improvement Association has proposed the city council that the organization will not object to the using by the city for other purposes of $25,000 set aside for improvements to East Fourteenth street if the council will guarantee that $40,000 will be appropriated in the budget next year for that purpose. The matter was referred to Commissioner Soderberg.

ACCUSES STEWARD

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—Richard Berry, chief steward on the steamer Kilburn, plying between here and Portland, was arrested here today on complaint of Edward C. Graham, a passenger, who charges Berry with grand larceny by trick and device as the result of a gambling game that lasted all the way to Portland and back again on the trip ending last Sunday. Graham says he lost $345 in hard cash, a $100 Liberty Bond and his automobile, an order for which he put into the pot. Berry's defense is that he won by "legitimate gambling."

This form of coercion merely consisted in promising the offending restaurant proprietors that if they did not observe Meatless Tuesday their liquor privilege would be withdrawn. In San Francisco 1400 combination saloons and restaurants were being checked up by the police department, and in Oakland parties were taken to find out those who disobeyed the intent of the day.

DR. SIMONDS TO LECTURE. Unity Club will hold its bimonthly meeting tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. After an introductory program of Thanksgiving music and readings Dr. W. D. Simonds will deliver an illustrated lecture, subject, "Manners and Customs of Old New England."

MANY SAVE MEAT

Meatless Tuesday was more generally observed throughout the city than at any other time since it was adopted as one method of conserving the food supply, according to reports made to Federal Food Commissioner Ralph Merritt. It also was reported to Merritt that several cities in the State have adopted the suggestion made recently by Chief of Police Nedderman to bring about compliance on the part of numerous small restaurants that have liquor permits.

U. S. HAS BURDEN

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—The civil authorities of San Francisco are placing a greater burden upon us than is just, if they do not clean up their community and eliminate the temptations which do harm to our armed forces.

With these words United States Commissioner Francis Krull today held George Peters, 405 Third street, to answer to the Federal Grand Jury for conducting an alleged disorderly house. Peters was found not guilty by a jury in the superior court yesterday, but was rearrested by the Federal authorities today and his bond fixed at $1000.

RUSS PEACE PLAN STIRS BIG PROTEST

BULLETIN.
LONDON, Nov. 27.—Information was received here today from Petrograd that a number of German staff officers have arrived there and are acting in an advisory capacity to Nikolai Lenin, the Bolshevik premier.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 27.—According to the Vienna Correspondence Bureau today, General Dikshin, former Russian commander-in-chief, announced he had received an allied protest against a separate peace. The allied communication, the despatch declared, intimated a separate peace was "fraught with serious consequences."

PETROGRAD, Nov. 27.—Election of delegates to the constituent assembly is on and will continue through tonight. Nineteen lists, representing various parties, factions and organizations are in the field, including two women's leagues. The Moscow metropolitan committee has announced that the elections there have been postponed for a week.

The American Red Cross relief train arrived at Jassy, Rumania, on November 18. It consisted of 55 cars of hospital supplies from America and foodstuffs.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The Russian army on the northern front has had no bread for several days, according to reports received in Petrograd and transmitted here, and only two or three days' supply of army biscuit is on hand. The army delegates are reported to have recommended the withdrawal of the troops in order to prevent a general fight with its consequent excesses. Instead of a hundred cars of food arriving daily at the Dvinsk front, only twenty have been received.

The Council of People's Commissaries, according to a despatch from Petrograd, dated Sunday, has declared a two-months' moratorium from the day of the beginning of the recent revolt.

HOMES TOO WARM

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The American consul at Tiflis today reported establishment of the new government in the Caucasus as a protest against anarchy in Russia.

Oligarchy May Fight Aristocracy

Conference of Allies Will Decide

PARIS, Nov. 27.—The allies' conference will be called upon to decide whether the nations fighting for democracy shall establish a single military dictatorship, or create a military oligarchy to fight the German military aristocracy. America's vote may be the deciding factor.

Representatives of democracy here today for the inter-allied conference are of a single mind as to unification of the allies efforts. But their ideas are divergent.

The French favor the creation of one supreme generalissimo, as against the British idea for a supreme war council in the role of an advisory committee.

The British, inherently individualistic, foresee possibilities of trouble at home if the British armies cease to be controlled by the home government. They are not disposed to concede complete transfer of authority, particularly since the prevailing idea is apparent that the generalissimo is a Frenchman. Not that there is any distrust of a French generalissimo, but there is some disposition to regard it as inevitable, if such a supreme war chief were created that the man named would be a French commander.

The British, however, recognize there is no necessity that they preserve their own remarkable unity and keep the British people's confidence in the army at its present high mark.

The Italian viewpoint on the two plans was not available today.

As for the Americans who will participate and whose votes may actually decide the matter, they are keeping close counsel, listening, doing some hard thinking and hard working.

WILL BE NO IMPASSE

The spirit dominating all the allies' representatives assures that no impasse is possible and that there will be a smooth working out of the scheme before the present conference gives way to the supreme war council—this latter body to have the duty of operating whatever system is devised.

Viewed from the outside today, the situation seemed to warrant the prediction that the conference would reach a compromise solution—the same sort of a compromise that some times takes place in American business organizations.

Seven of the retiring directors are leaving after having completed their terms. Two retire on resignations, J. H. Brown and E. B. Bull having given up their offices in the company.

FOR C.C. DIRECTORS

Nomination of nine candidates for directors of the Chamber of Commerce to succeed the members of the board who retire with the end of the year will be the special order at a meeting to be held in the South banquet room of the Hotel Oakland tomorrow.

The rule is to permit members to place in nomination any member who has agreed to run. The retiring directors are: Dr. A. S. Kelly, President; Joseph H. King, F. A. Leach Jr., D. E. Perkins, J. W. Phillips, Harrison S. Robinson and Charles L. Smith. The election will take place December 11.

70 ANARCHISTS TAKEN IN RAIDS

SEATTLE, Nov. 27.—Seventy men were rounded up today in a series of raids by Federal immigration and secret service men in a war on a society of anarchists which has been spreading anti-war and anti-government propaganda in the northwest.

Raids occurred in Seattle, Cle Elum, Black Diamond, Renton and Roslyn simultaneously. The raids were made under the direction of United States immigration Commissioner Henry M. White.

The 11-leader of the same, most of whom are alleged to be sought in Tacoma, having eluded officers here.

Thanksgiving season is here, the season of thanks and the season of good things to eat. CALIFORNIA BOY AT CAMP MILLS

"Conditions at Camp Mills are entirely different from those we enjoyed at Camp Lewis, Wash.," writes a former University of California man to The TRIBUNE.

"We are sleeping in little canvas tents, with only mother earth as a floor and no heating facilities of any sort, although the days are damp and cold and the nights frigid," continues the letter.

The writer left for Camp Mills on October 23. He spent just eight days at the Washington camp and was expected to Minneapolis, L. I., to fill up a gap. There were hundreds of other boys from California aboard the train that speeded east. The policy of the government to fill up the gaps in the eastern cantonments was clearly demonstrated with the removal of this contingent from Camp Mills, wrote the local man.

"Although some of us had military training at the University of California, there were scores of boys who had never handled anything but a duck gun, still, it doesn't matter much, as I am in the heavy artillery and I never saw a gun larger than a six-inch one, and that is not in our class. We get everything above the six-inch shooter."

Another feature of the intensive training given at Camp Mills is the method of feeding and training. The boys line up with their pan and cup. Find a place to sit, and eat it. There are no long tables or mess houses.

Hikes of miles are taken every day. Vaccinations and injections are part of the regular routine and the Californians on Long Island think these preparations mean they are soon to go to France or some other fighting front.

"We are all well with exception of colds, but no one pays the least attention to these," adds the letter.

KEEP RECORD OF ALL SALES OF DYNAMITE

A complete record of every stick of dynamite and every ounce of explosive, as well as all chemicals entering into the manufacture of explosives, will be had as the result of the enforcement of the explosives acts passed by the last Congress and coming into effect this month.

The licenses have not been received by the county clerk and pending their arrival the traffic is conducted as heretofore.

The act provides for the appointment of a State explosives inspector, and for the employment of the police departments any other officers of the law necessary to its complete enforcement.

On his return to Oakland, the Marin county authorities held that the lamps did not comply with the law, and this despite certificates issued by the Oakland and by the Alameda police to the effect that his lamps had been tested and found legal.

COUNTIES DIFFER ON AUTO LIGHTS

Necessity for state-wide agreement by traffic policemen as to what constitutes proper compliance to the State's anti-glare law, as is contemplated in the convention to be held in Oakland in the near future, was emphasized by the experience Sunday of an Alameda county motorist in Marin county. The state convention is purposed by Chief of Police Nedderman as the result of disagreements as to the proper method or adjusting automobile lamps.

The latest disagreement of authorities empowered to enforce the law was experienced by Harry A. Weihe of 1101 Sherman avenue, Alameda. His machine had been tested by Corporal J. G. Wallman of the local automobile squad, but the Marin county authorities held that the lamps did not comply with the law, and this despite certificates issued by the Oakland and by the Alameda police to the effect that his lamps had been tested and found legal.

Too much rain is ruinous —and so is too little

ET rain is necessary for all vegetable and animal life. Moderate rainfall at regular intervals is the ideal condition. Extremes of every kind always go wrong. Justice and Right are in the balancing of forces. Thus it is with Prohibition; being an extreme, it is unjust, dictatorial and un-American.

For 60 years we have honestly brewed BUDWEISER—the drink of moderation. It is a mild brew of the finest Barley-Malt grown in America, and the rarest Saazer Hops grown in old Bohemia. COMPARES HUBBY WITH DE SAULLES

"I never saw two cases that contained as great similarity as mine and Mrs. Blanca de Saulles," declared Mrs. Hazel Vallejo King, heiress to the Paul Heller estate, who was in court with her husband, King, prominent Oakland automobile man, for divorce. The complaint was placed on the secret file and the lawyers would give none of the details, but Mrs. King said she was sure the husband would try to hide the facts of her husband's misconduct toward her. She could not recall all the incidents of his alleged misconduct, but the episode in Los Angeles when the men met in a hotel and she, in an unconsciousness, tore off her clothes and left her lying there, was quite clear in her memory, she said.

She based her application for divorce on cruelty and non-support, denying the husband any right to custody of the child, maintenance for a long period. She said that he hates children and that he refused to support her child. She declared that he often expressed the wish that she should die and that he worried her with his abuse that she attempted suicide.

ALAMEDA BONDS IN DEMAND.

The soundness of Alameda county's credit as a borrower was demonstrated yesterday when a firm of bond brokers disposed of $170,000 of a $200,000 lot of the estuary bridge bonds in less than a half hour after they were put on sale. The brokers paid a premium to the county for these 5 per cent securities and retailed them on a 4 1/2 income basis.

While the amount of the offering was not large, compared to the normal capacity of the local bond market, the sales demonstrated that sound local securities are in demand despite the recent heavy investments in Liberty bonds. The bridge bonds yield only one-half per cent interest more than the federal war securities.

Another striking feature of the strong demand for the Alameda county securities is the fact that San Francisco city and county bonds at 5 per cent and State bonds yielding 4.40 are not finding a ready market. Alameda county is free from debt and the bond brokers say the bridge bonds are the best "buy" in California. That is the secret of their popularity.

NEW INTEREST IN WATERWAYS.

The many perplexing and heavy traffic problems which the business of the war has developed has directed attention as never before to water routes—inland waterways, tidewater ports and coastwise ocean routes. For example, plans for diverting a part of the enormous coal traffic from the over-worked railroad system of the country to inland and coast waterways are now under consideration by the United States Fuel Administration. It is hoped that a material saving in cars and motive power can be effected by utilizing water transportation wherever possible.

Certainly a saving can be effected, and the only regret will be that more water routes have not been developed to the point of practical public utility and consequently are not available in this emergency.

Major General William S. Black, Chief of Engineers of the Army and in charge of river and harbor development, is co-operating with the fuel administration and has submitted the results of an investigation into terminal facilities available for transportation by water. They show plainly that a large saving in railroad transportation can be brought about. Shipment of coal from Eastern fields to New England is an instance of the opportunity for saving. At present large quantities of coal are shipped from Pennsylvania and West Virginia fields direct to New England points by rail. Facilities are available whereby practically all this coal could be sent by a much shorter rail haul to tidewater at Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York and thence by barge to New England ports.

By adopting this plan to the transportation of coal alone, thousands of cars and locomotives and train crews could be released for service along other routes and for moving products not suitable for water transportation.

Here we have the waterways question as a war-time question. Mr. J. Wainwright Evans, writing in the Nation's Business, the organ of the United States Chamber of Commerce, put the matter in this form:

"Shall we save our system of railroad transportation from a possible breakdown at some time in the future by beginning at once to make all the use we can of our more navigable inland waterways? That is, of course, a war question, pure and simple. It has to do not with commerce, but with the winning of the war."

If the waterways and harbors of the country have for the present resolved themselves into a war-time question, something more may come out of consideration of the subject than has at any given time in the past when looking at it on the basis of relative economy in transportation. The advocates of water transportation development have always had to contend with two sturdy factors of opposition. First, the cry of those outside of a prospective zone of benefit that the appropriations sought from Congress were only "pork" for "the district," and second, the claim of the railroads, often voiced also through the opponents of "pork," that commerce could not be transported by water more cheaply than by rail under prevailing rates.

The first cry was—in connection with all important projects—false, and the second claim was selfish, and remains yet to be proved. If the government and the railroads, working in conjunction, both find it advisable to make all possible use of available water routes, the waterways and harbors question will appear before country and Congress in an entirely new light. If they are found to be performing a vital function in the war transportation business the perennial opponents of development will be silenced and the question approached on its real merits.

SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' BENEFITS.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo has issued, for the benefit of the officers and enlisted men and women of the Army and Navy, a letter of explanation of the benefits and privileges which the government has placed at their disposal. The Secretary of the Treasury has been charged with the administration, through the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, of the soldiers' and sailors' war insurance law. But, in addition to the soldiers and sailors, it is highly desirable that the families of the men serving their country should know their rights and advantages under this law. Therefore we quote at some length from Mr. McAdoo's letter:

"To care for the wife and children of the enlisted man during his service, the war insurance law compels him to contribute up to one-half of his pay for their support. The government, on application, will generously add to this an allowance of from $5 to $50 a month, according to the size of the family. Moreover, if the enlisted man will make some further provision himself for a dependent parent, brother, sister or grandchild, they may be included in the government allowance."

"If as a result of injuries incurred or disease contracted in the line of duty, an officer or enlisted man or an Army or Navy nurse should be disabled, provision is made for compensation of from $30 to $100 a month to him, and, should he die, compensation of from $20 to $75 a month will be paid to his wife, his child or his widowed mother."

"In order, however, fully to protect each person and family, Congress has made it possible for every soldier, sailor and nurse to obtain life and total disability insurance. This insurance applies to injuries received while he or she is in the service or after he or she shall have left it."

"Exposure to the extra dangers of war makes the cost of life insurance in private life insurance companies prohibitive. It was, therefore, a plain duty and obligation for the government to assume the risk of insuring hundreds of thousands of our soldiers and sailors who are making the supreme sacrifice. Under this law, every soldier and sailor and nurse, commissioned and enlisted, and of any age, has the right, between now and February 12, 1918, to take out life and total disability insurance up to $10,000 at very low cost, with the government, without medical examination. This right is purely optional. The soldiers and sailors are not compelled to take insurance, but if they desire to exercise the right, they must do so before the 12th of February, 1918. The cost ranges from 65 cents monthly, at the age of 21 to $1.20 monthly at the age of 51 for each $1,000 of insurance. This is a small charge on a man's pay—small in proportion to the benefits it may bring. The premiums will be deducted from his pay, if he desires, thus eliminating trouble on his part."

"To provide adequate protection until February 12, 1918, during the period when the soldiers and sailors are learning the details of this law, the government automatically insures each man and woman, commissioned or enlisted in the military service of the United States. It pays the man $25 a month during total permanent disability; if he dies within twenty years it pays the rest of 240 monthly installments of $25 each to his wife, child or widowed mother."

All officers of the army and navy are instructed to give the men under their command all possible aid in helping them to understand fully the benefits and the operation of the war insurance act. As the Secretary of the Treasury says: "This is the greatest measure of protection ever offered to its fighting forces by any nation in the history of the world. It is not charity; it is simply justice to the enlisted men and women and to their loved ones at home."

It will be observed from the above that until February 12 the law automatically insures each commissioned and enlisted person in the different branches of the service. By that day all are expected to be thoroughly acquainted with the system and to have formally filed their insurance applications.

In case beneficiaries at home of a soldier's insurance wish information of a specific nature they should apply to the War Risk Insurance of the Treasury Department, Washington. They will find the federal government a competent counsel and advisor and a just judge. Already professional claim agents and an unpleasant type of lawyer are on the lookout for "cases." They will charge fees or a commission on the insurance payments.

Their services are not needed. Have nothing to do with them. Let the government handle your case for you and you will lose none of the benefits intended to be yours exclusively.

THE PRESS AND THE TREASURY.

(From the United States Government Official Bulletin, Washington.)

Since the United States entered the war thousands of patriotic Americans have volunteered their services to the government. Some volunteered their services in the Army, some in the Navy, and some in various civil employments. In addition, many in the two Liberty Loan campaigns and in other great national measures have devoted and are devoting all or part of their time, at a nominal compensation or entirely without compensation, to the service of their country.

If ever a just is made of these American citizens who have volunteered their services to their country at war, it will be found that no calling, profession or business can show a higher percentage (if any can be shown so high) as that of the press of the Nation. The large city dailies, with their tremendous circulations, and the small local weeklies, that penetrate into the humblest homes of the dwellers in villages and on farms, alike have devoted their talents, energies and space to their government.

The local foreign-language papers have been as generously patriotic as the others and have preached Americanism and duty in thirty-six different languages.

In the second Liberty Loan campaign, as in the first, the newspapers of the country have shown their unselfish patriotism, and the splendid results in each campaign are in a great measure evidence of their power and influence.

NOTES and COMMENT

There will have to be some consideration given to the etiquette that will be seemly toward Miss Titania Romanoff when she arrives. There is no precedent on which to base a welcome of a high princess out of a job. This country wishes well of democratic Russia, but it will not snub a Russian princess who has shown such grit in getting away from an embarrassing situation.

Nobody has devised a way to circumvent or speedily apprehend auto thieves. It is a serious subject to owners, and especially to insurance companies. Instead of decreasing under police watchfulness and the penalties inflicted on those who are caught and convicted, auto thievery seems to increase.

From the official price list of fish for the current week it is learned that striped bass is to be had for 22 1/2 cents a pound and catfish for 20. Catfish at 20 cents a pound is pretty nearly a war baby.

Franklin and Marshall college, at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, was under the spell in 1912 and conferred the degree of Doctor of Laws on Count von Bernstorff. It has emerged from the spell now and revoked the degree. It may require courage to thus admit error, but it is sometimes the thing to do.

A despatch from Washington states that the baking industry has presented figures and charts to the food administration to justify the increase in the price of bread. The chart is a new argument in this connection, but it may have been found necessary to make an extraordinary showing to harmonize the increased price of bread with the decreased price of flour.

The inmates of State institutions would have reason for despair in the decision of the authorities to eliminate turkey, cranberry sauce and candy from the Thanksgiving menu were it not announced in the same connection that ducks, chickens and other meats, together with fruits, raisins and nuts, would be supplied instead. It seems that when such a world war is on the wards of the State, with patriotic self-denial, should eke out with these substitutes.

An interesting controversy is in progress between pro-duck and anti-duck men. The anti-duck proponents are rice growers. It is set forth by the pro-duck advocate that a million ducks are killed in the season and to kill more would "impair the supply." That seems to be regarded as sufficient argument for permitting them to swarm up and devastate the rice fields. It can't be said that the pro-duckers are "no hands to argue."

An anomalous condition exists at Seattle. The recruits from Camp Lewis are not permitted to go into the city on account of bad moral conditions. Seattle, having gone through several moral crises and being bone dry, it would seem that conditions ought to be tolerable there, especially to a soldier.

The variation in the pendulum's swing in New York is comprehended in the fact that there was a Billy Sunday revival in the spring and a Tammany victory in the fall.

The announcement is made that automobile racing has been barred during the war. That is reasonable, and if the inhibition shall be made permanent it will not be depriving mankind of necessary diversion.

The seizure of considerable quantities of wheat at Portland that had been laid in to bait ducks is a reminder of a practice of "sportsmen" that might be put under the ban whether from war necessity or not. Spreading grain to entice game birds to come up close so that they may be shot from a blind is not the acme of sportsmanship.

Announcement is made that the bean growers are to organize. The bean has attained that eminence where organization would not seem to increase its lustre, as it were. When it was lowly and taking its chance with other food staples organization was not forthcoming. It is only another instance of the predisposition to help when necessary, for help is past.

The Chico Enterprise gets this from the front over its special live wire: "The order of the general commanding the iron monsters at the drive on Cambrai, 'We expect every tank to do its damndest,' is the modern version of 'England expects every man to do his duty.'"

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

The State Railroad Commission has granted the Clear Lake Railroad Company the necessary permit to proceed with construction work on its proposed road from Hopland to Lakeport. Guy L. Hardison has taken the $300,000 bond issue and $200,000 of cumulative bonds, subscribed principally in Lake county. Hardison says he will go ahead with construction work of the road.—Cloverdale Reveille.

We heard an engineer say yesterday in Los Angeles that the automobile parking problem will have to be solved by using the basements or sub-basements of office buildings and providing elevators to carry the cars up and down. This is the most sensible suggestion we have heard.—Santa Ana Blade.

J. C. Massengale, who is growing cotton on the M. A. Kendall ranch two miles south of town, brought to the Tribune office an insect specimen, found on a load of cotton he was bringing to town, which he declares to be a cotton boll weevil. Massengale, who has seen the cotton boll weevil at its work, declared there could be no question about the insect being a boll weevil. The specimen is a dark-winged insect, looking something like a miniature spider. As far as is known, this is the first of the dread boll weevil to be found in Imperial Valley.—Holtville Tribune.

A Common Cause—A United Purpose—An Undivided Responsibility!

REAL JAPANESE GARDEN

What, then, is a Japanese garden? Briefly, it is an arrangement of landscape with plants, rocks, and sometimes water, in a representation of a Japanese ideal of natural scenery. It happens oftentimes that a foreigner looking upon such a garden finds in it only what seems a fanciful contrivance, anything but natural. This comes, perhaps, because he does not know the Japanese canons of expression and judges it only by his own standards. Such a basis of judgment is very dangerous, especially if exercised after a slight of very few examples. If many gardens are seen and considered the unfamiliarity of the mode of expression recedes into the background and the observer becomes aware of the real creation.

The first considerations by the scale of the gardens. It is common knowledge that the Japanese contrive gardens in areas the smallness of which would discourage others. Indeed, the miniature scale of the Japanese garden has been seized upon with joy and delight and has become one of the correct things to prattle about when one speaks of them. While often they are designed on a small scale—are, indeed, built in imitation of some larger landscape—they are not often of a scale different from that of their accompanying buildings. Rather is it the six-foot foreigner who cannot sit gracefully upon the silken cushion who sets the scale in his mind, and his acute realization of his own size and awkwardness makes doubly noticeable the diminutiveness and delicacy of his surroundings. If, therefore, he may overcome the influence of his inherited attitude of mind and accept the mannerisms of the native work, he is in a position to apprehend the spirit of its creations.

Let us turn aside, if you will, from a busy Japanese street, with its crowds and its noise into some temple court. Perhaps we go in by aside gate, up long flights of stone steps gray and green with lichens and mosses, till we come to the courtyard of the main buildings, then through the buildings or through some side gate into the garden enclosure.—From "The Spirit of the Japanese Garden," by B. Y. Morrison, in the December (Christmas) Scribner.

WHERE TO SAVE MORE.

It has been made so easy to send letters to recent years that we have grown wasteful of them. When it was necessary to write every letter in long hand there were limits to correspondence. But in these days of stenographers and dictagraphs and appliances for multiplying letters, the mails are daily swamped. It is no more effort now to send out a thousand letters than it would have been twenty years ago to send out ten. Another thing. While we are saving on correspondence why not save in the size of the paper used? Why waste perfectly good paper at a time of paper scarcity by using a large sheet to send a letter of three or four lines? Why not use paper of a size to fit the length of the letter? If every business house in the United States would stop sending out a lot of blank paper with every letter there would be an enormous saving in a year—a saving that would show up on the books as something worth while.—Kansas City Times.

THERMOMETER AS UMPIRE.

A thermometer, or several thermometers in order that temperature of the house, would save fuel by reminding you when the temperature is higher than any one argues in the abstract that it should be. Thermometers save also the wear and tear of discussion as to how warm a house is at a given time. When one person who has been out of doors excels and another who has been sitting about in the house, fall to discussing the temperature in the house, as to its suitability, the thermometer serves as an umpire. It shows the person just from the out of doors that he is wrong when he declares the house "suffocating," or shows the person who has been indoors that it is seventy degrees when he wonders if the man who attends to the furnace has not forgotten the evening stoking.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

WHO'S YOUR NEIGHBOR?

MERCHANTS SWINDLED BY BAD CHECKS

A clever check-passer, using cashier's checks from the Atlantic National Bank of Jacksonville, Florida, "loose" in Oakland Saturday afternoon and mugged half a dozen or more of the largest merchandise firms in the city out of several hundred dollars. The police department and a detective agency have been working on the case for two days, but have failed to learn the identity of the swindler.

The check-passer is believed to be the same man who worked a similar trick in St. Louis three months ago, using the name of the cashier of an Oakland bank to fleece the merchants in St. Louis. The method used was almost identical.

The checks were all for sums ranging about $30 to $50. They were the regular checks of the Atlantic National Bank, and the name of the cashier was forged to them, with the proper certificate and photostatic marks. The check-passer spent the latter part of last week visiting the stores he intended to victimize, making himself acquainted, picking out a bill of goods. Saturday afternoon he made a series of fast visits to the stores, ordered bills of goods amounting from $20 to $30, instructed that they should be sent to what turned out to be a fictitious address, and cashed his checks, one after another, at the stores.

In carrying out the transaction, the check-passer used the name and address of an Oakland resident. The police have refused to disclose this name, as they are using it as a clue in their investigation. Among the stores swindled were: Roos Bros., Shaw & Allen, Lynne Stanley, McNutt & Swift, and the Mesmer-Smith Company.

Woods who has been held to answer in the Superior Court on a charge involving fraud in an automobile transaction, appeared before Police Judge George Samuels today on a similar charge preferred by E. When Is Duchess Not So? When She Is Movie Star!

GRAND DUCHESS TATIANA NICOLAEVNA ROMANOFF, daughter of the former Czar of Russia. (The insert), MRS. MARGARET CARVER, Oakland woman, who is racing across country to meet her.

Arrival of Oakland Woman Awaited by Public to Clear Dark Mystery

Mystery which surrounds the arrival of Grand Duchess Tatiana Nicolaevna Romanoff, 20-year-old daughter of the deposed Russian Czar Nicholas, whom Mrs. Margaret Carver, better known to Oaklanders as Madame Marguerite Barry, interpretative dancer and dramatic reader, is rushing across the continent to meet, was made deeper today by the announcement of a Russian dancer in

New York that she had been offered $500 a week to impersonate the distinguished "princess."

The latter announcement came from Madame Ekaterina, a member of a Russian ballet, who alleged that she had been offered that sum to appear in the movies impersonating the grand duchess. Madame Ekaterina's statement was impelled by

NO WASTE ON CELEBRATION, CITY DEMAND

General demand that Oakland forego a waste of money on a New Year's eve celebration, because of the urgency of war demands was made today by influential citizens and organizations of Oakland. The demand followed a statement of Potentate J. Lorain Pease, of Ames Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, which fraternal order has cancelled plans for a celebration of the coming of the New Year.

"When our nation is preparing for a gigantic struggle which will demand every dollar of our spare cash and every ounce of our energy," said Pease, "loyal citizens can have little heart for plans which will cost the lives of some of our soldiers and sailors. We need all our resources. Even for so joyous a custom as the observance of the old year passing, we cannot afford to squander it on a night, food and money which might keep us in provisions for weeks. The war must be fought by every citizen. It is better for us to forego luxuries now than to face grim want later. In the interest of our country, all festivities should be curtailed. That is the sentiment of Ames Temple."

ENLIST CITIZENS. Mrs. Helen Swett Artieda, secretary of the Public Welfare League, today announced that the league, "in endeavoring to secure the co-operation of every patriotic citizen in Oakland in the prevention of waste on the occasion of the passing of the old year."

This annual celebration," said Mrs. Artieda, "has always been in the past marked by an almost reckless extravagance. This year, in the midst of a world war, with the nation struggling with tremendous economic problems, we feel that we should do all we can to curtail foolish expenditure."

"In case a celebration is held we desire to prevent the festivities from degenerating into an orgy. This, not only for the sake of the ordinary citizen, but for the sake of the thousands of soldiers and sailors in the bay cities. The gaiety and license of New Year's eve, unless restrained by public opinion, will result in unusual temptation to them. We must protect them from those who will try to sell them liquor."

HOLD COMMITTEE MEETING. "A committee meeting will be held this afternoon at which resolutions will be drafted for presentation to the City Council tomorrow. These resolutions will ask that the city should do all it can to prevent the celebration from being a waste of money."

power to make the New Year celebration if held, one in keeping with the gravity of the times. The Hart House ordinance provides that there shall not be sold after one o'clock in the morning, but the chief of police is allowed to issue special permits for New Year's eve and other occasions.

"We will ask that the chief be instructed to withhold these permits this year. But what we would like to impress upon the minds of all thinking people is the folly of throwing away money on mere pleasure at a time when every cent is needed for war and for the relief of the suffering caused by war. This is not a time to be reckless. Our wealth must not be wasted in license."

Romanoff was en route to New York after a sensational escape from Siberia, to dance and write fairy tales for the aid of the Russian relief work. Still further complications have been introduced into the affair by Mrs. Carver, who is a personal acquaintance of the czar's daughter and has been presented at the Russian court, made in Denver on her way from Washington to the coast, that there were two Tatianas. According to Mrs. Carver, Grand Duchess Tatiana has a daughter by the same name who came very quietly to this country some time ago and is adding in the work of forming a "United States of Russia."

At Carver's husband was a Petrograd banker. She is the daughter of W. H. Russell, a realty man of 10525 Pontiac street, this city, and has been active in Russian relief work both at Washington and in Petrograd. She has appeared before the Eboli club in this city and the Adelphi in Alameda. She also appeared at the Fennia theater in London in 1910. She was divorced from a previous husband named Fitzpatrick in this country several years ago.

News of the Knitters

By Edna B. Kinard.
Club realized that the Berkeley workers had only an empty treasury and the price of yarn was still going up, they decided to offer a card game as the pleasure of an hour or so with patriotism as its inspiration. Last Thursday took several scores of donations to the Twentieth Century clubhouse, leaving the two hundred and fifty dollars as the proceeds of the benefit. Mrs. Robert Hopkins is president of the club which entertained.

Some of the most beautiful work which is finding its way across the Atlantic to the boys in France is done by Mrs. R. K. Balden, who out of the darkness which has closed upon her is making sweaters and scarfs and socks by dozens and dozens. She has mastered the art of the service garments and prefers the larger to the smaller. Where Mrs. Balden is found her knitting is found with her. She is known as one of the busiest war workers which Oakland has recruited.

The eldest of the seven is ninety, the youngest has long ago seen her three score years and ten. And they live at the Masonic Home in Decoto. War is no new thing to them. They lived and suffered and worked through the days of the civil strife and the war with Mexico. They are new to the tramping armies of today. They were not to be turned aside from adding their "bit" of sharing their service. All of them knew how to knit. The Centerville Chapter of the Red Cross society keeps them supplied with yarn. From their deft fingers come box after box of socks and wristlets and things to keep the boys comfortable. The seven have grown very close

And if an observer will observe she will find that the gray yarns have almost entirely disappeared from public places and in their stead are the big masculine things of army and navy.

Secretary of War Newton D. Baker has made a formal statement regarding the misunderstanding which has arisen as to the War Department's attitude toward the knitting of sweaters and comforts for our soldiers. He affirms that his department has in no sense discouraged the furnishing of such garments through the American Red Cross and is appreciative of the spirit which prompts the American women in their knitting to the troops.

While a sweater is not included in the regular equipment of the army and is not regarded as a necessity it is a garment of great serviceability and comfort. It is welcome addition to a soldier's equipment, particularly when he is on duty in the rigorous climate of France. Secretary Baker adds "The work of American women who desire to add this comfortable article to the clothing supplied the soldiers by the War Department is worthy of encouragement."

Next week Oakland Chapter, American Red Cross, will receive a new shipment of yarns. In the meantime all new work is being held up as far as the distribution of wools is concerned, the store having been used up several days ago. The Red Cross offers the yarns under cost whenever it has a supply on hand, encouraging in every way the effort of the volunteer workers. It is interesting to know that the local chapter is sending its completed garments directly to France.

Two hundred and fifty dollars have been added to the wool fund of Berkeley chapter, American Red Cross, which will send knitted garments to the boys of the volunteer knitters in the college town. When the Monday Bridge

COAST SHIPS NOW BUILDING COST BIG SUM

Five hundred million dollars is the great total represented by the vessels that are under construction or contracted for or planned in the shipyards of the Pacific Coast. Of this total, warships represent $200,000,000 and merchant vessels, either wood or steel, $300,000,000.

Contracts have been closed for seventy-three steel vessels of a total tonnage of 700,000, to cost $105,000,000, and contracts are about to be closed for twenty-one steel vessels, 150,000 tonnage, to cost $20,000,000. Contracts have been closed for twelve wooden vessels, 60,000 tonnage, to cost $8,000,000.

It is estimated that within the next six months the work laid out in both wood and steel vessels will increase these to a total of 550 vessels of steel class with a total tonnage of 2,000,000, to cost $300,000,000.

The estimated cost of the war vessels under construction and the various yards is as follows:
Union Iron Works, $145,000,000; Mare Island, $300,000; Los Angeles, $2,500,000; Seattle Construction and Drydock Co., $20,000,000; Bremerton, $4,000,000. Total, $201,500,000.

Hundreds upon hundreds of little children of Belgium and Northern France are to have warm clothing to help them bear the hardships of a winter that may go on record as one of the harshest in history, through the efforts of the Belgium Relief Society, Oakland Unit, of California's branch has played an important part in the relief of these little ones.

At Miss Ransom's school in Piedmont (Miss Ransom is chairman of the Oakland unit) a group of matrons met yesterday to report of the work done for the Christmas holidays, the packing and shipping of the clothing in all of the bay cities and discussed plans for further aid in the spring. Mrs. Walton Norwood Moore, who recently ruled $1000 for the fund at a bridge ball; Miss Anna Florence Brown, Mrs. John Snook of the Berkeley Chapter, Miss Effie Kroll, Mrs. Thomas Mitchell Potter, Mrs. Edwin Garthwaite, Miss Dorothy Taft, Miss Margaret Garthwaite and many others were present at the meeting.

Day after day scores of matrons have worked from early morning until night, until the four tons of clothing, Oakland's allotment, were ready for shipment. Alameda was allotted one ton, and Berkeley two tons.

Mrs. John Snook, who gave the Berkeley report, is the originator of a button which already is selling a goodly sum for the cause. Upon a white background is engraved a black ring which represents the "steel ring" of Belgium. The letter A is in the form of a wedge signifying the break in the ring, and the emblem reads "Enlist to Save the Alien Through." These little buttons sell for ten cents apiece and are worn by all interested in the cause.

The committee has decided to adopt a campaign for stamps. The drive from a thousand used stamps will bring a sum which will enable one child a month's stay in Holland. The committee suggests that the stamped envelope be collected and sent to Miss Ransom's school in Piedmont, from whence they will be forwarded to the headquarters.

Christmas cards are a medium for increasing the fund, with replicas of famous paintings enclosed in folders, while Palo Alto women are offering as suggestions for Christmas gifts a pretty card on which is written the name of the friend and the sum of money, as a gift to the Belgians.

There were exquisite patterns of lace shown, made by the Belgian women. Every pound of thread which goes into the country so must a pound of lace go out. From the sale of this lace the relief committee intends to send back more thread to keep the busy. Owing to a scarcity of thread there is employment but two weeks in a month for the 55,000 lace-makers of the land.

Miss Lucy Herrick has presented to the Belgian relief committee a painting which tells a story in itself of the hope and confidence in the people in America, which lies in the hearts of Belgian women and children.

A. R. Moylan, late traffic manager for the California Board Mills Company, and who has been in training for three months at the officers' training camp at the Presidio, has received his commission of first lieutenant in the Aviation Signal Corps.

Lieutenant Moylan has left for Vancouver for service. He is the son of John C. Moylan of Euclid avenue.

Members of the Thursday Club, who have met for the past two years for an informal afternoon, were entertained last week by Mrs. Frank B. Ogden in Piedmont. Those who are members of the club are Mrs. Samuel S. Shepard, Mrs. Frank Greenwood, Mrs. C. W. Blake, Mrs. Gilbert

B. Daniels, Mrs. Lewis Hilborne, Mrs. T. B. Hardenberg, Mrs. James Jeffreys, Mrs. M. A. Glin, Miss Frank Kitchner, Mrs. William Poole and Mrs. C. H. Craig.

The engagement of Miss Helen Truesdell Craig and Dan H. Blood has just been announced, the bride-elect telling the bit of news to her sorority sisters at the Alpha Phi house Saturday afternoon. Miss Craig is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Craig of Le Roy avenue and is a graduate of the University of California, having taken her degree with the class of 1915. Miss Craig has been sojourning in the East for the past few months and has just returned to her home here.

Her fiancé is now stationed at Camp Lewis. He formerly attended the University of California and is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He is a son of D. N. Blood of Los Gatos.

An entertainment is to be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Wellington Emmons in Alameda the evening of December 5, when Miss Clara Emmons and members of the knitting club are to give a benefit for their wool fund. Three one-act plays are to be presented, together with a musical program. Miss Emmons will be assisted by a group of her associates in dramatic work.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dallam, who have been sojourning in the southern part of the state, motoring to many of the places of interest, have just returned to their home. They met a number of their friends during their trip.

Miss Lauretta Boyd, a charming Sacramento girl, who is often a visitor to Piedmont, will spend the Thanksgiving holidays in San Francisco as the guest of friends there.

Miss Madeline Sanford of Alameda and Miss Louise Gimbal of this city left a few days ago for Southern California, going directly to San Diego. Miss Sanford is the fiancée of Warren Sanford, now stationed at Linda Vista camp.

Among Californians now in Washington, D. C., are Mr. and Mrs. George W. McNear, who left recently for the East. They expect to return to their home across the bay to be with the other members of the McNear family over the Yuletide.

A disappointment to many friends will be the announcement that Mrs. William Henry Richardson of Texas will not come to California, as she had previously planned, but will go to Washington, D. C. Instead this winter, Mrs. Richardson is a sister of Mrs. Laura Adams and of Mrs. George Gross, with whom she usually spends a part of each season.

The marriage of Miss Lillian Kahn and Lawrence K. Tumbaling is to be solemnized December 1, at the home of Joseph D. Kahn in Alameda. Rev. C. L. Meers of the First Congregational Church will officiate. The young couple will make their home across the bay.

SAVINGS URGED

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Every man, woman and child in America must have a national war saving certificate. Frank A. Vandenberg, president of the National City Bank, New York, told the members of Syracuse. Vandenberg is director of the national war saving certificate campaign. He said: "We have savings stamps and certificates are the safest investment the world has ever known. Every man, woman and child in America must have one. They must be easier to buy than any commodity; they must be bought by all classes of investors. We can do without the two billions of dollars they will bring, but we cannot fight the war efficiently without the war savings plan and the war saving certificate. The war savings plan will be invaluable for that reason."

WOMEN'S CLUBS

By Edna B. Kinard

The day of the penny and the penny bank is over. It is being laid on the altar of the country and its passing will not be mourned. The penny hoarder will become the capitalist. The despised coin has not been altogether despised by women who have gathered them faithfully for club dues, for pet charities, for personal vanities. The small copper has been the beloved of childish hearts and easily won from the grownups who did not want to be bothered with anything so trifling as the minimum American coin.

But those who were penny wise or nickel wise, or dime wise, have had suddenly turned upon them the attention of government officials. Millions of dollars are found to be literally idle in tea pots, toy banks, china piggy banks and other descriptions.

When the daughters of the American Revolution, Oakland chapter, saved the pennies for a month, it afforded several Belgium orphans respite on the seashores of France, and when again they hoarded coppers to send chocolate to the soldiers, it was a generous pile of sweet stuff which was purchased. Uncle Sam is recognizing the purchasing power of the penny and its two elder brothers.

The small coin is the reason the various mints are working twenty-four hours a day. War taxes in small amounts designed to help win the war demand the payment of odd cents in amusements, methods of communication, travel, etc. That is why as a patriotic duty Raymond T. Baker, director of mints, is urging women and children to release their little hoards which in the massed sum run up into millions of dollars.

Hence the issuance of war savings certificates and war saving stamps. It goes one better step than the old method. A handful of coins brings the owner interest in the maximum.

VIOLET'S OWN STORY

Being the Last of Series of "The Problems of Violet Strange."
By Anna Katherine Green

"Take you! Take you!" The man's whole yearning heart, the loss and bitterness of years, the hope and promise for the future, all spoke in that low, half-smothered exclamation. Violet's blushes faded under its intensity, and only her spirit spoke, as leaning toward him, she laid her two hands in his, and said with all a woman's earnestness:

"I do not forget little Roger, or the father who I hope may have many more days before him in which to bid good night to the sea. Such a union as ours must be hallowed, because we have so many persons to make happy besides ourselves."

The evening before their marriage, Violet put a dozen folded sheets of closely written paper in his hand. They contained her story; let us read it with him.

Dear Roger—I could not have been more than seven years old, when one night I woke up shivering, at the sound of an angry voice. A conversation which no child should ever have heard was going on in the room where I lay. My father was talking to my sister—perhaps you do not know that I have a sister; the few of my personal friends do—and the words which I could not understand, but which I never forgot, were the real cause of his displeasure.

There are times even yet when the picture forced upon my infantile consciousness at that moment of first awakening, comes back to me with all its original vividness. There was no light in the room save such as the moon made; but that was enough to reveal the passion burning alive in either face, as, bending toward each other, she in supplication and he in a tempest of wrath which knew no bounds, he uttered and she listened to what I now know to have been a terrible arraignment.

I may have an interesting counterbalance, you have told me so sometimes; but she—she was beautiful. My elder by ten years, she had stood in my mother's stead to me for almost as long as I could remember, and as I saw her lovely features contorted with pain, her hands extended in a desperate plea to one who had never shown me anything but love, my throat closed sharply and I could not cry out, though I wanted to, nor move my hand or foot, though I longed to, and all my heart to bury myself in the pillows.

For the words I heard were terrifying, little as I comprehended their full import. He had surprised her talking from the window to some distant neighbor, and after saying cruel things about that, he shouted out: "You have disgraced me, you have disgraced your brother and your little sister. As it is not enough that you should refuse to marry the good man I had picked out for you, that you should stoop to this low-down scandal—this—I did not hear what else he called him. I was wondering so to whom she had been speaking, and when she stopped except to tell me, 'I love him.' Then I listened again, for she spoke as though she were in dreadful pain, and I did not know that loving made one ill and unhappy. 'And I am going to marry him,' I heard her say, standing up, as she said it, very straight and tall.

Happy! I know that that meant. A long while in a church; women in white and had flower-girl at a wedding once and had not forgotten. We had had ice cream and cake and my childish thoughts stopped short at the answer she received and all the words which followed—words which burned their way into my infantile brain and left scorched places in my memory which have never been eradicated. He spoke then, and I did not know that loving made one ill and unhappy. 'And I am going to marry him,' I heard her say, standing up, as she said it, very straight and tall.

But my childish thoughts stopped short at the answer she received and all the words which followed—words which burned their way into my infantile brain and left scorched places in my memory which have never been eradicated. He spoke then, and I did not know that loving made one ill and unhappy. 'And I am going to marry him,' I heard her say, standing up, as she said it, very straight and tall.

It must have been that very afternoon that father came in when Arthur and I were trying to get ready for bed. I was quite successful for I had been telling Arthur, for whom I had a great respect in those days, what had happened the night before, and we had been wondering in our childish way, if there would be a wedding after all, and a church full of people and flowers, and kissing, and lots of good things to eat, and Arthur said no, it was too expensive; that that was why father was so angry; and comforted by the assurance, I was taking my doll again, when the door opened and father stepped in.

It was a great event—any visit from him to the nursery—and we both dropped our toys and stood staring, not knowing whether he was going to be nice and kind, as he sometimes was, or scold us as I had heard him scold our beautiful sister.

Arthur showed at once what he thought for without the least hesitation he took the doll from my hand and placed it in front of me, where he stood staring at his two little fists hanging straight at his sides but manfully clenched in full readiness for attack. That this display of plummy chivalry was not quite without its warrant is evident to me now, for father did not look like himself, or at least himself any more than he had the night before.

However, we had no cause for fear. Having suspicion of my having been awake during his terrible interview with Theresa, he saw only two lonely and forsaken children, interrupted in their play.

Uncle Sam's Food Bulletin

For a delicious breakfast muffin try rice muffins, urged today's bulletin from the National Emergency Food Garden Commission of Washington, co-operating with this newspaper to conserve the nation's food resources. The following recipe is recommended:

- 1 cup cooked rice.
- 1 cup sifted wheat flour.
- 1/2 teaspoon salt.
- 1 teaspoon baking powder.
- 1 tablespoon sugar.
- 1 egg.
- 1 tablespoon shortening.

Liquid to make a rather stiff batter (about 1/2 cup). Sift together the flour, salt, sugar and baking powder twice. Beat the egg until light and add to the lukewarm liquid which has been put through a colander. Next add the melted shortening, then the rice mixture, alternating with portions of the liquid, until a batter is formed. Drop by spoonful into greased muffin pans until half filled and bake twenty or twenty-five minutes in a fairly hot oven.

RICE AND WHEAT MEAL BISCUITS.

- 1 cup of flour.
- 1 cup of wheat meal.
- 1 teaspoon salt.
- 2 tablespoons baking powder.
- 1 tablespoon sugar.
- 4 tablespoons shortening.
- Liquid enough to mix (about 1/2 cup).

Sift together the flour, meal, salt and baking powder twice. Have the shortening as cold as possible, and cut it into the mixture with a knife, finally rubbing it in with the hands. Mix quickly with the cold liquid (milk, skim milk or water), forming a fairly soft dough, which can be rolled on the board. Turn out onto a flat board, roll into sheet not over 1/4-inch thick; cut in rounds; place these in lightly floured biscuit tins (or shallow pans), and bake ten to twelve minutes in a rather hot oven.

SECRETARY IS ILL

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 27.—Although Secretary of Labor Wilson is confined to his bed in his private care here today, his secretary declared the cabinet member's condition is not serious and that he will be able to attend to his work today or tomorrow.

The President's mediation board, which is with Secretary Wilson, will not take up the above article until the secretary is better, it was announced.

"Sweetheart, You Look Ten Years Younger"

Complexion Blemishes Banished—No Sign of Wrinkles—How She Did It

Only a woman who has watched her complexion change from a pale, wrinkled, careworn, yellowish green to a clear, soft, youthful glow, can realize the feeling of joy that comes over her when first she saw that my own careworn, aged-looking skin was actually regaining its girlish freshness. Yet prior to this there was scarcely a preparation, including treatment at the highest price, which I had not tried, only to make my face look worse. Finally a French lady gave me a beauty recipe which she had obtained from a doctor in Paris, who told her the reason most things failed was because they lacked the power to get down into the skin and renew the youthful activity of the tissues. It was only a short time after that my husband exclaimed, "Sweetheart, you look ten years younger."

Pure roseated cream—Creme Tokalon Roseated—is guaranteed by its manufacturers to banish complexion blemishes and make any woman look years younger and far more beautiful in ten days' time. The price paid will be refunded. When they could supply Creme Tokalon Roseated and the other French created products mentioned. Drug Dept. at Kahn's, Osgood Bros. and Whitthorne & Swan—Advertise.

Garis' Bionne Lottopiles

(By Howard R. Garis)

Jacko and Jumbo Kinkvatt, the red and green monkey boys, had just come to K. V. Garis' Bionne Lottopiles, they had been visiting with their father, who played a hand organ.

"You ought to see what we saw," cried Jumbo to Sammie Littell, the rabbit.

"What was it?" asked Sammie, who was Sammie's sister.

"We saw airships, an' automobiles, an' trains of cars runnin' in the streets, an'—"

Then Jumbo lost his breath from talking too fast and he couldn't go on.

"Foolish!" said Sammie. "Uncle Wiggly has an automobile and an airship! That's nothing!"

"No, but he hasn't got a pushmobile!" exclaimed Jacko.

"What's a pushmobile?" asked Sammie.

"It's what the real children in the cities play with," went on the monkey boy. "It's a piece of board with wheels on it, and you stand on the board and push yourself along and steer with a handle. It's dandy, and I'm going to have one!"

"Well, I wish we could," spoke Sammie and Sammie Littell.

"We'll go see if we can buy them here in Woodland where we live," said Jacko. "So the monkey boys and the two bunny children hopped and scrambled through the woods, going to all the stores they knew, and asking for pushmobiles."

"No, we haven't any—never heard of them—was what they were told each time."

"Why, Jacko and Jumbo saw them in the city," said Sammie. "And they're just candy—pushmobiles are!" sighed Sammie. "We each want one very much."

But, though the animal children looked all over, no pushmobiles could they find, and they were feeling quite sad and miserable.

It was just at this time that along came Uncle Wiggly Longears, the rabbit gentleman.

"Hello—hello! Children! What's the matter?" asked the jolly rabbit with a twinkling of his pink nose.

"We can't find any pushmobiles!" sadly said Sammie.

"What are they? something like lollypops or candy?" asked Uncle Wiggly. "I've wanted to know," and when Jacko explained that the pushmobile was something like a roller skate, on which you could stand and steer with a handle, the rabbit gentleman laughed and said:

"Ho! ho! I think I can make those for you. 'Oh! can you, Uncle Wiggly?' asked Sammie.

"Of course, I can!" said the bunny. "Just come with me."

Uncle Wiggly led the animal children off through the woods. He came to a birch bark tree and stripped off some long pieces.

"These are for the part of the pushmobile," said Uncle Wiggly. "Scurry now and find some!"

So the monkey boys and the animal children scurried off. Uncle Wiggly stuck sharp sticks through them, and the cones turned around on the sticks just as the wheels of roller skates turn.

"Now we'll fasten the wheels to the birch bark standing place, put handles on them, and the pushmobiles are made," said the rabbit gentleman, doing it as he talked.

"Four pushmobiles, one each for Jacko, Jumbo, Sammie and Susie, and said he would make more for any of the other animal children who asked him."

"Why thank you, Uncle Wiggly, for yourself," asked Susie as she coasted along on her machine.

"Well, I'm too old!" said the bunny, diffident-like.

"Not at all!" cried Jacko and Jumbo. "You're just a baby!"

So Uncle Wiggly made him a pushmobile with pine cone wheels.

Workmen have been in the Oakland Municipal Auditorium for the last three days building coops for the Thirtieth annual Alameda County Poultry Show, Rabbit and Pet Stock Show, which opens Thanksgiving morning at 9 o'clock and closes Sunday evening, December 2, at 10 o'clock.

One of the features of the show will be the daily lectures on "How to Raise Chickens." In Your Back Yard" by the best authority in the State on poultry, Herbert Hoover, food administrator, has asked the Alameda County Poultry Association to encourage the people to raise chickens in their back yards in order to save the red meat for the men in the army.

The show will be one of the largest combined poultry shows ever held on the Pacific Coast. According to C. H. Hinds, secretary of the association, the entries in all departments have exceeded last year's by 25 per cent. In the rabbit department more entries have been made than in any previous rabbit show in the United States.

TURKEY MEAT COMES HIGH THIS SEASON

Despite the fact that new turkeys were rushed to the market local commission men worked today on an uncertain footing. While prices today remained firm, with 35 cents the maximum for dressed birds at wholesale, indicating retail prices of from 35 cents for lower grade birds to as high as 40 cents, the market did not move as fast as was expected. According to commission men this indicated the market was not as stable as might be desired.

Tomorrow will fix the Thanksgiving prices for turkeys, it is expected. The big buyers, who held off this morning in the expectation that there might be a drop, must buy before tonight to have stocks in by tomorrow morning, and in the meantime they are trying to gauge their orders. This is given as the cause for the reluctance of retailers to fix a market price on turkeys today. In some quarters a drop tomorrow is looked for, but commission men declare that this will depend on the volume of arrivals tomorrow. One commission firm expects heavy arrivals tomorrow, but several others state that the bulk of their stock is already in.

The present price of turkey is considerably in advance of last year's Thanksgiving figure, corresponding, in fact, to last year's highest Christmas prices. The market tomorrow may indicate this year's Christmas figure. If turkeys are forced down it will mean smaller orders for Christmas, with a consequent probable rise at that time, say the commission men.

Celery for the Thanksgiving turkey is arriving in large shipments today. Cranberries are firm.

"Hooverizing" by big institutions took a swat at the Thanksgiving turkey market today. Several big hospitals and other institutions who usually supplied a Thanksgiving dinner for the inmates and employees, this year have cut turkey off the menu, holding that the price is too high. Commission men for years have filed a heavy order on Thanksgiving for the Providence hospital. Today came the announcement, "We are not buying turkey this year. We are Hooverizing." Several other heavy buyers made the same statement, in accounting for their refusal to deal in turkeys.

Mrs. Janet Painter Bliss Is to Become Bride Today

MRS. JANET PAINTER BLISS, whose marriage with George Pope Fuller, is announced for this afternoon.

What the smart set has known was the fact that Mrs. Janet Painter Bliss, daughter of W. P. Fuller, company, who has denied, and George Pope Fuller has smiled wisely about for many months is to be married today. Mrs. Bliss is scheduled to become the bride of the millionaire clubman who is head of the firm of W. P. Fuller, company. When last May, Mrs. Bliss, a beautiful young divorcee was offered felicitations about her betrothal she was emphatic in her statements that there "was nothing in it

REGISTERED MEN TO AID RED CROSS

What promises to be one of the greatest subscription campaigns for the Oakland chapter, American Red Cross, was launched last night at a meeting of the newly organized Registered Men to Aid Red Cross Association of local exemption board No. 4.

Alfred Van Valkenburg, upon exemption from war service by board No. 4, offered a pledge of $1 a month for the period of the war, the money to be paid to the local chapter of the Red Cross for general war relief purposes. His offer was accepted by the local chapter.

George W. Fitch, chairman of the public bureau of Oakland Chapter, Red Cross, and the first man drawn in the draft in district No. 4, seized upon the idea as one that might be developed would be productive of splendid results.

Fitch, together with Dr. Herbert Samuel, secretary of the Red Cross, and a special committee consisting of Dr. L. F. Herriek, Dr. E. F. Card, J. E. Greenan and Hubert H. Walker worked out the general organization scheme, completing the preliminary plans ten days ago by appointing a captain for each precinct in district No. 4.

The meeting at the city hall last night was the first gathering of the precinct captains.

Thirty-five representative young men, each of whom received exemption from service in the army, pledged themselves to pay $1 a month to the Red Cross and to thoroughly canvass the district for membership. Since there are approximately 9000 exempted men in district No. 4 alone, it is easily seen that the movement promises great results. The first $1 will constitute a yearly membership in the Red Cross, subsequent payments will be placed in the registered men's Red Cross fund, to be used at the discretion of the local chapter. Every drafted man in district No. 4, exempted from duty by becoming at once a member of the organization.

Addresses were made last night by Dr. Herriek, chairman of local board No. 4; Dr. Samuel, Irving Kahn, George W. Fitch, Hubert H. Walker and C. C. Holmes, treasurer. The speakers were met with the greatest enthusiasm. Each man rose to his feet at roll call and solemnly pledged his support to the cause.

OFFICERS CHOSEN. George W. Fitch, chairman; Hubert H. Walker, vice-chairman; H. R. Vail, secretary; C. C. Holmes, treasurer. Chaffee Hall was appointed chairman of the committee on constitution and by-laws.

and the whole story was ridiculous. Even then she was wearing the lovely wrist watch, which was given to her by her father, and the famous little dog of which she was so proud and which he had presented to her, was sporting at her feet.

The marriage in which society of San Francisco and the east bay cities has so keen an interest was planned for late this afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Painter in Alameda with only members of the immediate family present. All elaborate details were omitted because of the illness of the bride's father. There are to be no attendants. Last week Mrs. Bliss received her final decree of divorce from Philip Edgar Painter, a divorce which was granted by the courts which offered society a sensation a year ago. Dr. Bliss is a Stanford graduate and a dentist in Santa Cruz. His wedding with the beautiful young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Painter was one of the brilliant events of 1915, taking place in Christ church, Alameda. The devotion of young Fuller to the popular society matron has been marked for many months. Mrs. Bliss is the sister of Mrs. Pauline Painter Dougherty. Fuller represents one of the old and wealthy families of the state.

DRUG IS REDUCED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Manufacture of acetylsalicylic acid under German patent recently secured will be immediately resumed in the United States under government supervision and at greatly reduced fixed prices, the Federal Trade Commission announced.

WHOLE CITY GETS BEHIND BENEFIT PLAN

Plans were started today for the whirlwind "Liberty Boys' Drive" of the United fraternal, commercial and other organizations of Oakland. Committee workers today gathered in their headquarters, opened this morning in the tenth floor of the Syndicate building.

In the meantime the committees are centralizing their efforts on the big event of the drive giving tag day, in which Berkeley and Alameda are to be invited to cooperate, raising funds for their own boys.

Eight hundred Boy Scouts, school girls, society organizations cooperating in the big affair will aid in the mammoth sale of tags.

WILL TAG STORES.

A new departure in tag day drives will be in "tagging" stores. Hugo tags, somewhat like service flags, will be provided for stores, these to be placed in their windows, and the big tags will be marked with stars or other designations.

Chairman A. L. Vander Naillen of the executive committee moved the offices to the tenth floor of the Syndicate building today. A big campaign committee started its plans, the committee consisting of the following: A. E. Moffitt, (chairman), Frederick Kahn, J. J. Rosborough, Dr. J. F. Slavich, Floyd Gray, Thomas V. Bridges, Joseph H. King, Sheriff Frank Barnett, I. H. Spiro, F. H. Woodward, Clifton Brooks, Paul O. Buder, H. C. Capwell, Joseph E. Caine.

Speakers will be sent to every meeting of every organization. In the meantime voluntary donations are arriving at the offices of W. A. Hamilton, secretary of the Moose Club, Twelfth and Clay streets, he and The TRIBUNE receiving donations for the fund, which already has reached almost $100.

SCHOOLS WILL AID.

Active cooperation of schools has been assured by the executive committee and arrangements are now being made for the printing of the tags, to sell at "10 cents and up."

Chairman Vander Naillen, at the meeting of the general committee last night, outlined the plan of the tag day, which will be held on the night of the tag day, with various attractions. This will be taken up this week by the executive committee.

In the meantime every effort is to be centralized on the tag day. "We want to make this the biggest tag day in the history of the city," declared Vander Naillen. "It is the biggest purpose for which such a day was ever planned. In the meantime the lodges will help by giving whist parties and dances and other benefit affairs, which will be especially successful as The TRIBUNE is backing them and will give the publicity that will put them on the map."

WANT NONE FORGOTTEN.

"The committee in the meantime wants all fathers and mothers who have sons in the army to send their names in and if possible what military organization they are attached to that none may be forgotten." Mr. George Samuel presided at last night's meeting, held in his courtroom. Mrs. C. A. Fortin was placed on the ladies' executive committee in the place of Mrs. N. Sankey of the Berkeley, who was unable to serve. Mrs. Fortin is patriotic instructor of the Ladies of the G. A. R. The Grand Army had a representation at last night's meeting, as did a number of new lodges to enter the big movement.

Why Society Women Wash Their Own Hair

They do, not because it is a fad, but because they wish to obtain the greatest possible hair beauty and be sure they are not using anything harmful. They have found that in washing the hair it is never wise to use a makeshift but is always advisable to use a preparation made for shampooing only. Many of our friends say they get the best results from a simple home-made canthor mixture. You can use this at a cost of about three cents a shampoo by getting some canthor from your druggist, and dissolving a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes enough shampoo liquid to apply to all the hair instead of just the top of the head, as with most preparations. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear in the rinsing water. Your hair will be so shiny that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you.—Advertisement.

One-Man Safety Cars to Be Tried In Oakland Soon

Oakland may soon see the spectacle of one-man controlled cars on some of the short lines where traffic is light. The new cars represent the latest ideas in eastern car construction and are cheap, quick and easy to operate, say traction officials.

The car is operated by one man who acts as conductor and motorman. Passengers enter and leave through a door in the front, which is under the observation of the operator. The door cannot be opened while the car is in motion and cannot be "jumped" in motion.

If the motorman-conductor drops dead on duty, the car automatically stops itself, applies its own air brakes and opens its own doors. The cars are of steel finished in rattan and seat 28 passengers.

CHINESE 'NO SABE' CASE IS DISMISSED

As the result of alleged threats and intimidation against witnesses in the case of Chin Quong, a young Chinese who was accused of robbing the cigar store of Gee You Wong, at 369 Eighth street, on October 28, following a sensational hold-up, the witnesses have been forced to flee the city and the case was dismissed today by Police Judge George Samuel.

Chin Chung Dung, lessee of the place which was held up, appeared at the city prison after the arrest of Chin Quong and positively identified him as one of the hold-up men. When the case was called in the Police Court today Chin changed his opinion in the matter and positively refused to say that the man under accusation was the one he saw in the store the night of the robbery when a sack of coin containing $180 was taken. The money was recovered after it had been thrown in a doorway during the fight of the robbers.

According to Inspector William F. Kyle, the principal witness has fled from Oakland, while the other who remains "no sabe."

Apparently an effort has been made to use the police department as a collection agency for the witnesses. The witness positively identified the prisoner in the city jail the other day and now he says he never saw him before. We thought that we had a clear case against Chin Quong, but we are up against it. We cannot prosecute for perjury because on the first occasion of identification the witness was not under oath. Tong activities are said to be behind the change of attitude.
